3.1 ABOUT AAIR

The Australasian Association for Institutional Research (AAIR) is the professional association for institutional research practitioners in higher education and other institutions in Australasia.

Established in late 1988, AAIR continues to draw members mainly from Australia and New Zealand, with further members from the Pacific, Southeast Asia, and the African continent. Members contribute to planning, decision making, policy formulation and analysis concerned with the management of tertiary education.

The broad aim of AAIR is to benefit, assist and advance research which leads to the improved understanding, planning and operation of tertiary education institutions within Australasia. AAIR has the following principal objectives:

- ▶ to raise the level of professional competence and practice in the fields of tertiary education institutional research, planning and analysis in the Australasian region
- ▶ to enhance inter-institutional cooperation in the undertaking of comparative institutional research projects
- ▶ to assist the professional development of members by:
 - ▶ organising an annual conference (the AAIR forum)
 - ▶ developing and fostering cooperative links with the AIR and European AIR
 - ▶ encouraging regional meetings of members to augment the annual Forum

AAIR is affiliated with the Association for Institutional Research \(AIR\) in the United States, along with other groups located in Europe, South-East Asia, South Africa and Canada.

3.2 ABOUT INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH

'Institutional research' is viewed as a range of activities involving the collection, analysis and interpretation of information descriptive of an institution and its activities, including its students and staff, programs, management and operations. The findings of such 'institutional research' assist institutional leaders (in both academic and administrative domains) by informing their planning and decision-making.

3.3 GOVERNANCE

The business and affairs of AAIR are managed by the Executive Committee constituted under Rule 23.

The powers and responsibilities of the Executive Committee include managing the business and affairs of the Association, appointing volunteers and sub-committees and delegating any of its duties to such volunteers and sub-committees, and the Committee may appoint staff for a period and on such other terms and conditions as may be determined by the Committee. Appointments are periodically reviewed.

Further information about AAIR and the Executive Committee is available in the Rules at <http://aair.org.au/about/rules>.

4. Occupational Health and Safety (OHS)

All holders of positions with AAIR are required to take reasonable care for their own health and safety. As AAIR has no employees as such, contractors and volunteers in honorary positions are responsible for their own health and wellbeing. All contractors, volunteers and honorary Board members work from their own premises as required by AAIR.
